

Roger Jeter, CPA
Colorado Springs, Colorado

Mr. Jeter has been involved in consulting for over 25 years at various different levels, including Partner at a Big 5 firm.

Early in his career, Mr. Jeter worked as a programmer, analyst, and development manager for several companies, including the US Army where he was a Captain.

Mr. Jeter then went to work for Price Waterhouse and Grant Thornton Big 5 firms where he was a Senior Manager and Partner for 14 years, including 11 years as Partner. His responsibilities at these firms included:

- Managing a Wide Variety of Projects
- Management Consulting Department Head – Cincinnati
- Partner in Charge, Mid-States Area, ERP Systems Practice
- National Director of Consultant Professional Development
- National Director of Strategic Learning

As a Partner, he had extensive sales and P&L responsibility. He grew two practices to $3M and $4M each. He gained extensive practice and organizational development experience. He was responsible for practice-wide training, methodologies, and knowledge management.

However, after years as a partner, he discovered that he wanted to return to his roots of simply being out with clients and working with them directly the vast majority of his time – “getting his hands dirty”. So, in 2001, he went out on his own, founding CPM Solutions which specialized in helping companies with project management.

Then in 2005 Roger felt God leading him to make a move from Cincinnati to Colorado Springs to begin working with Christian organizations, being a Management Consultant. Since then, he has worked with several Christian organizations.
